Talk of Controls

Business Is Warned On Future

By WALTER BREEDE JR.

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—Talk of inflation, deflation and possible wage and price controls posed new questions for U. S. businessmen this week.

Former President Herbert Hoover, with first-hand knowledge of the 1929 boom-bust debacle, warned that it could happen again.

Pleading for more economy in government, Hoover repeated Treasury Secretary Humphrey's warning that big federal budgets, if long continued, will produce "a depression that will curl your hair."

Sees the Signs

"Mine has already been curled," said Hoover, "and I think I can detect the signs." Questions about the boom's future were raised, too, by President Eisenhower.

The President said that if business and labor can't tame the inflation tiger on their own, the federal government will have to move in with controls of some kind. He did not say what kind. But many businessmen jumped to the conclusion that he meant controls on wages and prices.

Retailers Jittery

Loud cries of protest from retailers brought this assurance from Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks: "There is no disposition in this administration to crack down with wage and price controls."

Even so, the mere mention of inflation controls was enough to give many retailers a case of jitters.

Rowland Jones Jr., president of the American Retail Federation, said Eisenhower's warning is likely to have just the opposite effect from that which the President intended. Many merchants will cancel price cuts they had planned for special promotional events, he said, because they're afraid of controls that might freeze prices permanently.

To Convene March 4

Judge Bryan authorized the inquiry and directed that grand jury be convened March 4. Justice Department officials said it was decided to take up the matter in Alexandria, just across the Potomac river from the capital, because the federal

President Names Van Valkenburgh To Paltz PO Job

Clifford S. Van Valkenburgh Jr., acting postmaster at New Paltz, was nominated to that post Friday by President Eisenhower, according to the Associated Press.

A former mathematics teacher at Myron J. Michael School and once one of Kingston High School's outstanding basketball players, he was appointed acting postmaster April 1, 1956. He succeeds Jay Zimmerman who held the post for 17 years.

Kingston Native

A native of Kingston and graduate of New Paltz State University Teachers' College, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford S. Van Valkenburgh of 126 Downs street. His father is deputy clerk at the county clerk's office.

His maternal grandmother, Mrs. Ellen Deets, who also resides at Downs street, was 101 years old September 1.

He is married to the former Miss Margaret Wicks of New Paltz, daughter of George Wicks and a niece of Senator Arthur H. Wicks. They have a son, Herbert Charles.

Mr. Van Valkenburgh starred as a basketball player at Kingston High School in the early 1930's.

U.S. Feels Nasser Could Help Israeli Withdrawal

United Nations, N. Y., Feb. 9 (AP)—The United States is reported putting out quiet feelers to learn whether President Nasser of Egypt would agree to make a conciliatory policy statement which might help in the effort to get Israeli troops out of Egypt.

Informed sources said Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. and other members of the U. S. delegation have been sounding out Egyptian diplomats on this possibility. A U. S. delegation source acknowledged Lodge had been in contact with the Egyptians over the past few days, but declined to disclose any details.

Ask Punitive Action

These moves were reported as Arab delegates urged punitive measures against Israel because

President Praises Flemming's Service

One of the most complimentary letters written by President Eisenhower about a man's service to his government was that accepting with regret the resignation of Dr. Arthur S. Flemming as director of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Dr. Flemming, a former Kingstonian, resigned the post on February 6, after serving almost four years in Washington, D. C.

Miss Kingston Is Sought in Area By Jaycee Group

A "Miss Kingston" will represent the local area at the Miss New York Pageant in Schenectady in April, it has been announced by Robert E. Gardiner, member of the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce. The local Jaycee organization will stage the contest here.

Chairman Gardiner said that the Jaycees had been invited to select a Kingston area beauty to compete in the statewide contest staged at Schenectady by that city's Jaycee organization. Plans for a Miss Kingston Pageant, late in March are underway, he added.

To Contact Schools

The entries committee will be headed by Richard C. Speidel, of the New York Telephone Company. This group will contact civic and service clubs, the senior class of the area high schools, and private schools to select eligible contestants for the Miss Kingston crown.

Sgt. Donald Beany Injured In Car Mishap, Ex-Grid Star

Sgt. Donald G. Beany, 49, of 9 Stanley street, stationed at Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh, was reported in "apparently fair" condition today at Kingston Hospital with injuries suffered when his car left the Thruway and plunged down an embankment about three miles south of Kingston early Friday night.

A well-known athlete who played with the famous Kingston Yellow Jackets football team some years ago, Sgt. Beany was reportedly suffering from a laceration over the right eye and left lip, minor abrasions and bruises, first, second and third degree burns of both hands, shock and exposure.

He was brought to Kingston Hospital by Schultz ambulance. The mishap occurred at 8:15 p. m., according to Thruway police stationed in Highland.

Sgt. Beany, an army career man, was proceeding south when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel, went off the right shoulder and down a 50-foot embankment, coming to rest with the wheels in the air. The car, badly damaged, was towed away.

Federal Judge Is Assured $250,000 Will Be Produced

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—The New York, Ontario and Western Railroad, a bankrupt property for 20 years, has a temporary reprieve from extinction.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan saved the 541-mile freight line from oblivion last night, a few hours before the expiration of a midnight deadline for raising $250,000 in emergency operating capital.

Rest Forthcoming

Ryan postponed the deadline until next Thursday after checks totaling $15,000 had been produced in court along with assurances from interested parties that the remainder was forthcoming.

State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz said $50,000 would be put up Monday with the balance of $185,000 available by Thursday.

Without the postponement, the railroad would have ceased operation and been sold in its present condition.

The operating capital is needed to keep the O&W running.

Tugboat Talks Are Off, Fuel-Oil Pinch Is Felt

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—Negotiations have been suspended in New York's nine-day-old tugboat strike, making it almost certain the walkout continues into next week.

No new talks were scheduled after wage committees for both sides separated last night.

A fuel-oil pinch became more apparent as dozens of hospitals, apartments, hotels and factories appealed for emergency supplies. Almost all of the city's coal and fuel oil is brought in by tug-propelled barges. Trucking of oil into the city has been encouraged since the walkout by an emergency committee.

The 4,000 crewmen, who man some 400 tugs, are members of Local 333, United Marine Division of the National Maritime Union. The tugboat owners are represented by the New York Towing and Transportation Employers Assn.

The union reportedly has scaled down its wage demands from 18 per cent to 15 per cent. The employers have offered a 12 per cent wage boost over two years. Current wages range from $1.75 to $2.80 an hour.

In addition to a wage raise, the union seeks a wide revision of working conditions plus other fringe benefits.

Also affected by the strike are ocean liners and freighters, forced to dock and sail without the aid of tugboats. The walkout has curtailed to some extent food supplies and other commodities.

The city's fuel emergency committee warned that a serious crisis in fuel oil supplies may develop in a few days and Emergency Fuel Coordinator Charles F. Preusse urged all city agencies to cut down on fuel, saying: "While the situation is not critical today, it could become critical within a few days."

Pier Talks Resume

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—Mediation sessions resume today to avert a waterfront strike affecting ports from Portland, Me., to Hampton Roads, Va.

Members of the International Longshoremen's Assn. (Ind.) have voted overwhelmingly to strike next Tuesday (5 p. m., EST) after expiration of the

Woodstock-Onteora School Link Scored by Committee

Current efforts to centralize the public schools of the Town of Woodstock with Onteora Central completely disregard the natural gravitation of the township's pupils and parents toward the Kingston school system.

Lewis R. Wilson and Kermit Schwarz, of Woodstock, co-chairmen of the Greater City of Kingston Consolidation Committee, made the charge today in a statement to The Daily Freeman.

Speaking in behalf of a group of Woodstock taxpayers who desire to align with the Greater Kingston consolidation, Messrs. Wilson and Schwarz said a check of school records and high school registration over the past four years revealed an overwhelming sentiment in favor of the Kingston school system.

The committee firmly believes that a substantial majority of the pupils and parents of pupils prefer to consolidate with Kingston," they said.

Chose KHS Before

The committee pointed out that since the 1953-54 school year, when parents and pupils were granted the option of attending Kingston High or Onteora Central, between 50 and 60 chose Kingston, while only five or six expressed a preference for Onteora.

"These figures speak for themselves," the statement continued, "and any attempt to twist or demean them represents a callous disregard of the people who will be most affected by any change in our school setup."

Cite Youngsters' Desire

Another interesting sidelight was an annual taxpayers meeting a few years ago when a delegation of youngsters attended to make sure they would go to Kingston High.

"Over the years," the committee statement concluded, "the residents and school children of Woodstock have naturally gravitated toward Kingston. We go there to shop, to work, for sports and recreation. We firmly believe that the parents of Woodstock

Relations Improved, Nixon Says Visiting King On Way to Spain

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—King Saud of Saudi Arabia left Washington today with words of praise for the airbase-for-aid agreement he reached with President Eisenhower during a state visit here.

Vice President Nixon was on hand to say goodbye at departure ceremonies held in a steady rain at Washington National Airport.

Apologizes for Rain

Nixon apologized for the rainy weather and voiced a hope that it "doesn't leave a bad impression on Your Majesty." Saud, smiling broadly, said through an interpreter that it was of no consequence, that the thing he remembers is "the warmth of the heart."

An army honor guard stood at attention as a 21-gun farewell salute boomed out. The army band struck up Saudi Arabia's national anthem and, as Nixon and the king inspected the guard, the band played the English air "Green Sleeves."

Leave for Azores

Saud and his party took off at 8:20 a. m. (EST) in Eisenhower's plane for a flight to the Azores. There a Spanish plane will pick up the royal party and take them to Spain for a four-day visit.

With Saud went Victor R. Purse, 38-year-old deputy chief of protocol for the State Department. Purse, who has been guiding the king on his American visit, is going back as Saud's personal guest for a visit of several days in Saudi Arabia.

The entire Arab world was represented at the airport. Arab and other diplomats queued up to wish Saud godspeed in the rain. Also present was Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and a number of State Department officials.

Prince Steals Show

Secretary Dulles didn't make it—through a mix-up, aides said. Prince Mashur, 3½-year-old son of the king, stole the show, as he has done on a number of other occasions. The solemn faced little boy with the soft brown eyes was the last figure to get aboard the plane.

Nixon Gets Bid

One of the last things Saud did was to invite Nixon to visit Saudi Arabia, and to bring Mrs. Nixon.

Nixon told Saud he hoped he could make it sometime.

Nixon said he hoped also the Washington weather, which during Saud's visit has ranged from rain to snow to sunshine, "doesn't leave a bad impression."

while the receivers pursue efforts to sell it as a going concern. The emergency fund is not subject to a government claim for nine million dollars in back taxes and penalties owed by the railroad.

Judge Removes Robes

Ryan left a hospital, where he had been confined for five days, to preside over the four-hour hearing. He left the bench, removing his judicial robes, and sat among the participants "as a business man."

"This is not a judge's job," he said, "but I want to see what can be done toward keeping this road going."

One of the receivers, James B. Kilsheimer III, said the $250,000 was the minimum amount needed to keep the road operating for 60 days. He said he hoped that arrangements could be made during that time to sell the line. Kilsheimer said the O&W was losing $135,000 a month.

470 Ready to Help

William D. Carlevach, deputy commissioner of the Department of Commerce, said he understood that 470 persons in the upstate New York area were willing to pledge money to raise the full emergency operating fund.

Emergency measures have kept the railroad alive for the past 20 years of bankruptcy when coal shipments in its operating area fell off. The railroad runs from Oswego, N. Y., to Weehawken, N. J., and has a spur to Scranton, Pa.

The Treasury Department said last Thursday that it would hold up any claim against the $250,000 emergency operating fund to avoid hindering efforts to keep the railroad running until it could be sold.

Ulster county's two legislative representatives in Albany said Friday they were "gratified" by the federal government's announcement that it will not impede efforts to keep the bankrupt road operating at least temporarily.

Senator E. Ogden Bush of Walton and Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock flew to Washington Wednesday to join other legislators, civic and business leaders to appeal to the Treasury Department not to attach any claim against the $250,000 interested parties were trying to raise to keep the road operating until a buyer can be found.

The two area legislators sought to keep the railroad open, mainly because of concern of Ellenville area shippers interested in the road.

Village Mayor Eugene Glusker said Friday that approximately $10,250 had been raised in Ellenville on pledges from six interested parties: Marvin Millwork, W. H. Deyo & Co. lumber dealers; Channel Master, Ellenville National Bank, the First National Bank of Ellenville and Kernhouson National Bank.

There was no response in Kingston to a call by Mayor Frederick H. Stang for anyone interested to make pledges, according to a report from his office.

Saud Praises
Saud replied through his interpreter: "The atmosphere here is not very good (apparently meaning the airport rain), but the warmth of the heart atmosphere is very good, and that is what I will remember."

Grateful for Visit

Nixon told Saud he wished he could transfer some of Washington's rain to Saudi Arabia's arid desert. Saud, who has picked up a little English, laughed loudly and said, "Yes, yes, yes."

Nixon, speaking on a platform before a radio-television microphone, told the King the American people were grateful for his visit.

"During these last few days we have come to know you personally, and we value this," Nixon said.

The vice president said he was sure close U. S.-Saudi Arabian relations were strengthened by the visit "for the years ahead."

In response, Saud said his Washington visit "has made a great impression on me."

He expressed thanks to Eisenhower, government officials and the American people for the "welcome and generosity" accorded him.

"My respects to all," Saud said. One result of the agreement Saud and Eisenhower reached may be to convert the sleepy Persian Gulf coast port of Dammam into a bustling center of commerce.

Wrapped up in that community were these key agreements: 1. Continuance for five more years of the pact under which the U. S. Air Force uses the Dhahran air field 1,000 miles from Russia.

2. In exchange, U. S. military aid designed to give Saudi Arabia, in two years, a modern defense force including medium tanks, jet planes and trained troops totaling more than double the present 15,000 strength.

3. Also in exchange for continued use of Dhahran, an economic aid program which would develop Saudi Arabia in a way beneficial to both countries.

4. Opposition by both the United States and Saudi Arabia to any use of force and a pledge to work within the United Nations for Mideast peace. Any aggression against territory or political independence in the area threatens world peace and should be opposed, they said.

5. The United States considers Saudi Arabia spiritually, geographically and economically vital. Saud is satisfied with Eisenhower's Mideast plan to block Communist expansion through military-economic support and, in effect, that he will urge his fellow Arabs to back it at an Arab "summit conference" when he returns.

Rethier Given Suspended Term On Sign Dispute

Henri Rethier of Lake Katrine was given a year in jail Friday afternoon by County Judge Louis G. Bruhn following a plea of guilty to violation of Section 1906 of the Penal Law. Execution of sentence was suspended and Rethier was placed on probation. One of the conditions of probation was that he remove the sign from the complainant's property which was the cause of the original assault charge.

Rethier had been charged with threatening the proprietor of Tall Cedars Motel with a gun in a dispute over location of a sign. Complainant in a letter to the Court consented to a plea to a lesser charge on condition the sign in dispute be removed from his land. Rethier agreed. Another condition of probation was that Rethier abstain from intoxicants.

Leniency Asked

Sherwood Davis appeared for Rethier and asked for leniency, informing the court that Rethier was willing to comply with the request of complainant to remove the sign in dispute.

John F. Scheib, who was indicted along with Edward J. Feeney on a burglary charge and unlawful entry, was permitted to plead to unlawful entry. He allegedly took $35 after breaking into a place. Louis DiDonna appeared for Scheib, a former Marine, and he told the court Scheib desired to reenlist. A 94-day jail sentence was imposed, that being the time defendant has served in jail and he was discharged yesterday.

The first count of the indictment was dismissed. Restitution has been made.

Selection of a jury for the trial of Clarence Jackson, charged with burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry was continued. Two jurors had been seated. Joseph Avia appears for defendant.

Three Men Held In Heroin Raid

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 9 (AP)—Police said today they had cut the source of heroin for addicts on the Niagara frontier after a raid on a suburban pizzeria last night.

Held on federal charges of illegal possession of heroin and conspiracy to sell the drug were: Peter J. Calieri, 26, arrested at the pizzeria in which he is partner-owner;

Emmanuel Land, arrested at his home; and

Joseph William 32, who was arrested last month on a drug prescription forgery charge and was being held for trial.

Police said Land was free on bail on the same forgery charge. Federal Narcotics Agent Daniel A. Belmont said: "This will knock the props from under the narcotics business in western New York."

He said police confiscated 475 heroin capsules worth about $1,200 in illegal sales, plus bulk heroin and sales lists at the pizzeria.

The arrests came after three months of investigations by federal and state narcotics agents and local police, Belmont said.

Queen Mum on Rumor

The young Queen showed concern over reports published abroad saying there were rumors here of a "rift" between her and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh. Cmdr. Richard Colville, press officer at Buckingham Palace in London, said last night the rumors were "quite untrue."

President Praises

your resignation as Director, Office of Defense Mobilization, effective on the qualification of your successor.

As I have already endeavored to tell you, I have drawn constant reassurance from the fact that your many abilities were devoted to the vital task of preparing our nation against any eventuality. In this complex and exacting work, your vision and sound judgment have been of the highest value. The nation has indeed profited by your dedication to this service over the past four years.

Along with my appreciation of your services as Director, Office of Defense Mobilization, you have my thanks for your great contribution to the work of my Advisory Committee on Government Organization. I am glad that you can continue as a member of the Committee and will be available for further consultations from time to time.

With warm personal regard, and best wishes for your happiness and continued success,

Sincerely,
DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER

Dr. Flemming's Letter

Dear Mr. President:

As you know, I have been on leave of absence now for a period of almost four years as President of Ohio Wesleyan University. I feel, therefore, that the time has come when I should submit my resignation as Director of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

I do so with real regret because of the great joy and satisfaction that have come to me as a result of the privilege and opportunity of being associated with you during your first term in the office of President. It has been a source of inspiration to work with one who, in my judgment, exemplifies in his daily activities the ideals for which all of us should strive.

I have been particularly happy to be able to work with you in an area to which you have devoted, without thought of self, the best years of your life. As a result of this association I know that, under your leadership, the United States will continue to deal with the forces of international communism from a position of strength. I also believe that, under your leadership, our nation will continue to set in motion spiritual forces which will ultimately provide us with a breakthrough that will lead to disarmament.

I have undertaken a great crusade. Outstanding progress has been made in the direction of the objectives that you have established. I know that this progress will continue in the four years that lie ahead. I stand ready to help and assist in any way that I can as a private citizen.

I would like very much to have the opportunity of talking with you personally about the time when my resignation should be made effective.

Respectfully,
ARTHUR S. FLEMMING
Director, ODM.

P-TA Will Sponsor Square Dance in Gym

Tillson, Feb. 8 — The regular monthly meeting of the Tillson Parent-Teachers Association was held at the school Thursday evening with Mrs. Walter Born, president, presiding.

The organization will sponsor a square dance at the school gym Friday, Feb. 15, starting at 8:15 p. m. A pound sale will take place. Tickets for the affair are now being sold by members of the organization.

The board of education has set up certain rules and regulations regarding use of the school, such as smoking regulations, hours the school may be used and a letter relative to this matter was read to the members.

Permission to have the local Boy Scout Troop take over the hat and coat concession at the dance was approved.

It was announced that 4H Club Leaders Association would sponsor the play, "That's My Baby" on March 2. The cast of this play consists of P-TA members who a short time ago presented the play for the benefit of the P-TA.

The association will purchase an eye examiner machine for the use of the school.

Home room mothers will take care of the administration duties regarding a special sale planned for the afternoon and evening of April 4 by the school children. The home room mothers will also assist in the annual Valentine's party.

Due to the fact that only a small number of parents were present at the meeting, it was decided to take no action at this meeting relative to the affiliation with the National Parent-Teacher Association. President Mrs. Born announced that at the next meeting March 7, a vote to determine whether or not the association remains a part of the Parent-Teachers Association or if it will withdraw from it, shall definitely take place, and all members are requested to be in attendance to vote on this issue.

Following the business session, refreshments were served.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Victor R. Hansen, in charge of the antitrust division, said that while the government has no power to control oil prices, it is concerned with the possibility of any concerted action within the industry to raise prices.

O'Mahoney said he thought it was a "fair inference" that the department did not regard the antitrust exemption, granted to oil companies cooperating in the European supply program, as extending to any domestic price fixing.

Records Subpoenaed

O'Mahoney said last night his subcommittee has subpoenaed various records of major oil companies which were authorized by the government to coordinate their efforts to cope with Europe's oil supply problem. He said a number of the firms had volunteered to produce their records, but that "in fairness to all" it was decided to send out subpoenas to 16 firms.

As of the week ended Jan. 30, the oil-to-Europe program was falling short of the government-set goal of 500,000 barrels a day of crude and fuel oils. The Interior Department said yesterday that during the week, shipments of U. S. petroleum products to Europe averaged 454,000 barrels daily, but an average of 68,000 barrels a day went in the form of gasoline. Government officials have said Europe doesn't need gasoline.

The students of the 8th grade recently completed recording on tape, a panel discussion on two subjects, "The Declaration of Independence" and the "Constitution of the United States." This was in connection with their social studies class, and the tape is being sent to grades 4 and up for the purpose of discussion in their social studies lessons.

School will be closed in observance of Washington's birthday February 22.

The second edition of the Tillson Tatler, the school newspaper, is scheduled for the latter part of this month. Copies of the first edition were sent to various persons, and among those acknowledging the paper were Dr. Earl Soper of Kingston and Miss Charlotte Kolb, Rosendale teacher, formerly a teacher at Tillson.

In regards to school sports activities, Mr. McCormack, head of the athletic program, is planning to set up a program for the older girls to play basketball on a competitive basis with a girls team from Cortekill. A boys team had been organized previously.

Within a short time, George Fernandez, school principal and in charge of the adult education program at Tillson, is planning to call a meeting of the advisory committee and other interested persons, for the purpose of planning adult education for the balance of the season, or until June. Date of this meeting will be announced.

"This kind of warning from the President makes every retailer look around to see whether the cyclone cellar is ready for occupancy."

Backgrounding the talk about inflation this week was a generally mixed business picture characterized by signs of weakness in some lines, and of sturdy strength in others.

Principal soft spots included: A decline in freight carloadings, lagging sales of appliances and TV sets, a continued slump in home building, and a shaky stock market.

Job Totals Slip

Also, the latest reports on unemployment showed job totals slipping behind year-ago levels for the first time since early 1955.

On the plus side, the steel industry was still roaring along at near capacity and auto production was picking up. Spending on new construction in January touched a new high for that month despite the home building lag. New January records were set for construction of factories, office buildings, roads, schools, hospitals and churches.

Spending Continues

Consumer spending in department stores continued to top the year-ago rate. An "extremely optimistic" forecast came from the head of General Electric Co.'s turbine department. GE, he said, has scheduled production of turbines and generators for 1957-58 at double the 1955 rate—a sure sign that the boom in industrial expansion is here to stay.

Two of the nation's three biggest automakers this week toted up their balance sheets for 1956. Ford reported a net profit of 266½ million dollars, down 46 per cent from 1955. Chrysler's net of just under 20 millions was off a whopping 80 per cent.

In each instance, total sales were below the record peaks of 1955.

WE MUST STAND TOGETHER

Every time the Soviet Union warns nearby nations against permitting bases for the delivery of nuclear weapons, the free world fears a new upsurge of crippling neutralism.

In the light of past experience it would be foolish to say there is no sense in such fears. No one easily contemplates the threat of atomic annihilation. We would not, and we cannot expect others to do so.

Yet despite this menace we ask that our friends abroad, in that arc which rings Russia from Scandinavia to Pakistan, to hold firm in alliance against communism.

We can ask this in good conscience because we know that, above all the other countries, the United States would be the object of nuclear assault should the Kremlin decide upon war.

It would indeed be easier for the Russians to deliver atomic blows against countries closer by, but Moscow knows that we would be No. 1 on the destruction list. If the Soviet Union could not speedily reduce the United States to impotence, the Reds' chance of winning a war would go glimmering. Our retaliatory power would be the telling factor.

Admittedly, the bases we have overseas fit into the pattern of retaliatory power. But so long as we could send giant long-range fleets of nuclear bombers from American fields, or launch intercontinental guided missiles upon Red soil, the masters in the Kremlin could feel no real confidence.

Thus we are not asking our anti-Communist allies to live under threat greater than that which faces us. The danger is general—not limited to the NATO and other lands which encompass Russia.

It is today meaningless for any of these lands to say: "We don't want our ruins to be liberated again. We don't want any ruins this time."

The ruin would be worldwide from the outset, and there would be no prize for the winner to pick up, whether he stood 500 miles from Russian soil or 5,000.

The way to prevent this general nuclear holocaust is not for trembling nearby countries to peel off from the alliance and, in fear, move toward neutralism.

The way to avoid disaster is to stay linked together in tight array against the Soviet menace. That is perhaps the one secure means of assuring that the threat—to both near and far—will never materialize.

An inventor has devised motorized roller skates capable of carrying a man at 40 miles an hour. They're not the most comfortable transportation around, but they should be just about the easiest to park.

VOTERS PERFORM WELL

Somebody once said that figures don't lie. Actually, even accurate figures can be misleading. Take for instance, the Census Bureau estimate that there were 102,143,000 persons of voting age in the U. S. when the 1956 presidential election took place.

In round numbers the vote for President was 62,129,000, or only about 60 per cent of the electorate. That is a fair showing compared with some of the near 50 per cent balloting in previous years. Yet it is not good, or so it seems until political analysts work on it.

They have come up with a finding that after deducting all who were unable to go to the polls for various reasons there remained a balance of 81,500,00 who could and should have voted. Thus, those who voted constituted about 76 per cent of the potential total.

Political experts consider that an exceptionally good showing for the American citizenry, who thus are saved from being unjustly indicted.

In Peru two politicians recently fought to a draw in a saber duel. In this country politicians who are angered with one another confine their offense to cutting remarks.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
FORGOTTEN CHRISTIANS

In all the discussion concerning the Middle East, as it is now called, the assumption seems to be that the only ones involved are Moslems and the comparatively small number of Jews in Israel. The Christians who live in this area and who have lived in that part of the world a long time seem to be forgotten altogether. Perhaps the current group of policy-makers in the State Department never heard of them, but in some parts of the area, the earliest Christians founded Churches and Paul was on his way to Damascus when he saw the light and was converted.

There must be nearly 10,000,000 Christians of various sects in the vast area which John Foster Dulles calls the Middle East. As any census of those countries is unreliable, all figures are guessed. Nevertheless, it is possible to make an appraisal. Some of the Christian sects are very ancient. The Copts, for instance, date back to the earliest days of Christianity. If Egypt and Ethiopia are included among Middle Eastern countries there must be perhaps as many as 6,000,000 Christians in North Africa. It will be recalled that St. Augustine came from North Africa.

The earliest Christian fathers came not only from Palestine but also from Syria and from what is now Lebanon. In this area a number of Christian sects remain, among them the Melkite, Syriac Catholic, Maronite and Armenian-Catholic. These sects accept the authority of the Roman Catholic Church but pursue Eastern rites. There are also Christians in these areas who do not accept the Roman Catholic discipline, but belong either to the Byzantine Churches, often referred to as Greek Orthodox or simply as Orthodox.

At any rate, there are quite a large number of Christians who when the Turks ruled the Middle East were not usually persecuted but who have had a very difficult time since Nasser's Moslem nationalism has prevailed, supported, as it has been, by both the United States and Soviet Russia. It is understandable that Soviet Russia would forget these Christians, for that is an atheist country but it is difficult to grasp the callousness of the United States which claims to be a Christian country. In Egypt particularly, the Copts have had a most difficult time under Nasser who has placed Christian schools under Moslem control. The teaching of Christianity is apparently forbidden.

Ethiopia is a Christian country with a Moslem minority and it is not believable that the Lion of Judah will long ignore the attacks upon Christians so close to his territory. While he regards himself as a descendant of Solomon and the Queen of Sheba, the Negus of Ethiopia nevertheless is devoutly Christian as are most of the people of his country. In Lebanon, the most Western of Middle East countries, Nasser has been conducting an anti-Christian campaign which apparently is being resisted, although the Lebanese have received little support and no encouragement from the Christian West. It might be said that Lebanon has remained as neutral as possible between Egypt and the West, but geographically this country is so situated that neutrality is difficult if not impossible without Western support. Up to now, the United States has favored the Moslems rather than the Christians in the Middle East.

It is perhaps characteristic of the era in which we live that the sole consideration in international relations is a reflex to what the Russians are doing and plan to do. Russia's penetration into the Moslem world is a serious matter and its apparent success in two countries, Egypt and Syria, frightened the policy-makers in Washington into a hysterical reaction. The visit of King Saud may have lessened the peril, for if King Saud opposes Nasser, the Russian influence will lessen. But King Saud is a rigid Wahhabi, which is the most bigoted sect in Islam, and therefore is not likely to recognize the right of Jew or Christian to life and liberty.

It would be interesting at this point to make inquiries into the United Nations' Declaration of Human Rights and what it amounts to in human relations. There again, there seems to be a number of blind spots, nothing applying to any nations except those which voluntarily conform to U. N. dicta. As the National Youth Organization of Lebanon put it: "We did not fight the French mandate in order to accept an Arab mandate!" (Copyright, 1957, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.
OSTEOARTHRITIS

Yesterday we were speaking of gout and gouty arthritis and today I would like to go on to osteoarthritis which is essentially a wearing out process of the weight-bearing joints, usually associated with advancing age.

Most people over 60 have some evidence of osteoarthritis in the form of stiffness, pain on motion, or bony enlargement of various joints. The joints of the arms, legs, shoulders, hips, arms may be involved as may the spine. It is usually annoying, not too incapacitating and is the least serious of all the types of arthritis.

The symptoms are the result of degeneration of the lining of the joints. Frequently spur formation or new bony growth will occur around the margins of the joints. There is no evidence of infection. The most common age of patients of onset of symptoms is 45 to 60 years.

When the hands are affected, the arthritis usually occurs in the bones in the fingers with some enlargement. When the terminal joints of the hands are involved, the condition is called Heberden's nodes and the onset of these nodes at the end joints of the fingers occurs usually within two years of the beginning of menopause.

Lumbago (low back pain) in patients over 60 most often is due to osteoarthritis. The poor posture that most people have assumed while watching television or slouching in easy chairs has aggravated many of these symptoms. The patient usually is overweight. This form of osteoarthritis progresses slowly and may become very disabling. Of all types of arthritis, it is most resistant to treatment. In the female who is over 60 years of age and overweight the knees are likely to be the site of osteoarthritis.

The treatment of osteoarthritis must be individual for the particular patient. What is often done is to explain the condition to the patient, what can be tried, and, as far as possible, what to expect in the future. It is recommended that undue strain or excessive use of the involved joints be avoided as much as possible. Because most patients with osteoarthritis are overweight, reduction of weight at the rate of one pound per week is advised. This is so important that if the patient with osteoarthritis of the knees does not lose weight, she is not encouraged to return to the physician until there has been some weight loss.

The infrared heat of either a simple 250-watt bulb or a metallic element frequently gives considerable help. It should be used two or three times a day for 15 minutes each time at a distance of about 30 inches from the skin.

Since the posture is so important in osteoarthritis, the mattress of the patient's bed should be firm with a fracture board such as a half-inch piece of plywood under the whole mattress if it is rubber or innerspring. The patient is encouraged to sit only in straight-backed chairs or occasional chairs, not in lounge chairs or chesterfields. Aspirin is usually the best medicine for the relief of pain or stiffness.

His Halo's Slipping

Washington News

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
Washington—(NEA)— Rates for the federal government's new flood insurance policies have not yet been fixed. But one thing is certain:

A U. S. government flood indemnity policy won't cost anything near what it will be worth. If it did, the cost would probably be prohibitive for most people. As things stand now, when these policies go on sale this spring through the 150,000 private indemnity insurance agents all over the U. S., the price will have the benefit of two government subsidies. That's the way Congress fixed it when it passed the flood insurance act last summer.

In the first place, none of the government administrative, operating or overhead costs in setting up this huge flood insurance business will be charged against the policy holders. These expenses, running into many million dollars, will be covered by direct appropriation out of tax receipts.

Secondly, Commissioner Frank J. Meistrall, who heads up the new Federal Flood Insurance Administration—FFIA—is authorized by law to subsidize the estimated premium rate by as much as 40 per cent.

FOR EXAMPLE, if the rate should be set at, say $1 a year for each $100 of insurance coverage, the government will pay up to 40 cents on each dollar of cost. The insured customer will pay only 60 cents.

The law says that after June 30, 1959, the states must bear one half the cost of this subsidy.

or 20 per cent of the premium. There will probably be some state legislature yelling about this provision. Special laws will be required in most states.

Rates will be the same for all similar risks in all parts of the country, without discrimination. There are many legal problems connected with fixing rates. FFIA says it will have them ironed out before long.

Homeowners will be limited to $10,000 maximum indemnity, business firms to $250,000. This is to spread the risk and take care of small property owners who are always hardest hit by flood and hurricane damage.

The first $100 of property damage plus five per cent of the remaining loss will be deductible. Thus if any insured property sustained a $2,100 damage, the claim would be paid for $1,900 maximum.

This deductible clause, which is written into many automobile and accident insurance policies, is intended to limit small "nuisance" claims which are always expensive to adjust.

PRESENT PLANS are to write one-year, non-cancelable policies, with the full year's premium payable in advance.

This is to prevent people from buying flood indemnity policies before the spring thaw begins, then canceling out when summer dry spells begin.

In addition to the straight flood indemnity protection, FFIA is also authorized to issue loan contracts to cover additional flood losses.

Under this program, FFIA will guarantee loans issued by banks or other lending institutions to anyone suffering flood losses. The loans are limited to $10,000.

for each dwelling and $250,000 for each business.

The law says these loans must be limited to four per cent interest. In today's tight money market, such loans would be hard to get.

There are other complications. For instance:

What happens if the insured borrower goes broke? Who forecloses—the bank or the government? What constitutes default? And how much should be charged for such loan contract insurance?

Commissioner Meistrall hopes to have all these matters worked out so as to offer contracts with flood insurance.

So They Say..

Bails Out of Plane

Warwick, Va., Feb. 9 (AP)—An air force jet pilot escaped uninjured last night when he bailed out of his disabled plane at 10,000 feet over the Yorktown area, but the incident resulted in the arrest of a newspaper photographer who tried to take pictures of the wreckage. The pilot, identified as 1st Lt. James H. Colegrove, 23, landed in the small community of Tabb. His plane, an F100, crashed about five miles away in Warwick and smashed into a garage owned by Oscar L. Walker. Arrested while trying to take pictures was William R. Week's Business & Finance Reported by AP

Market Slips Backward

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—The stock market staggered backward this week, coming within a hair's breath of its 1956 low.

The market ended the week at its lowest closing point in its general trend this year has been an irregular decline.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped $3.90 to $172.20.

It was the second successive weekly decline and the sharpest this year since the week ended Jan. 19. The latter was the worst drop since May 1956.

At noon yesterday the market reached its nadir for this year. The AP 60-stock average was at $172.00. This compared with $171.60, reached on Jan. 23, 1956, last year's low.

Not Enough to Cheer

On several occasions since then the market has rebounded with vigor whenever it has approached that point. Yesterday there was a recovery, too, but it was slight and on low turnover—scarcely enough of a comeback to raise any wild cheers on Wall Street.

Whether this recovery will carry-through next week in better style remains to be seen. If the market does not muster enough strength to do this, analysts believe it may sink to a new resistance point from which to rally.

The past week saw many blue chips reach new 1956-57 lows. Among these were General Motors.

Most Active Stocks

The five most active stocks on the American Stock Exchange were:

New Pacific Coal & Oils, up 1/4 at 2; Webb & Knapp, up 1/4 at 1 1/2; Muntz TV, unchanged at 1/4; Pancoast Petroleum, off 1/4 at 10 1/2; and Great Lakes Oil & Chemical, up 1/4 at 23 1/4.

The five most active issues on the New York Stock Exchange were:

U. S. Hoffman Machinery, off 1/4 at 12 1/2; 193,600 shares; General Motors up 1/4 at 40 1/4; Bethlehem Steel (new), off 2 at 42 1/2; General Dynamics, off 1 at 58; and U. S. Steel, off 2 1/2 at 60 1/2.

Bond Review

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—Corporate and U. S. government bonds continued to advance this week. The pace slowed somewhat, however, from previous weeks. Weakness developed Friday in both the corporate and government markets.

In the corporate list, investment quality issues and utilities continued to move ahead. Rails edged slightly higher. Industrials and foreign dollar liens gave ground.

Convertible in particular were hard hit, in line with losses of their stock counterparts. Bethlehem 3 1/4's dropped 8% for the week to 129 1/2. Lockheed 3 1/4's gave up 3% to 106 1/4.

Trading volume for the week mounted to $20,258,900 par value from $19,973,000 the previous week in 1956.

A highlight of the government bond trading this week was the climb of the treasury's 30-year 3 1/4's by a full point to 100 16/32 bid. It was the first time since mid-October that the 3 1/4's had gone over par.

New Issues on Tap

The visible supply of state and municipal offerings up for public bidding over the next 30 days totals $388,454,429 compared with $300,402,468 a week ago. New issues on tap this coming week amount to $140,850,000 bonds and $246,435,000 short-term notes compared with revised totals of $124,831,718 bonds and $10,425,000 notes for the past week, according to the Daily Bond Buyer. The weekly average of long term offerings so far this year is $132,912,000.

This week's tax-exempt calendar is featured by bidding on Thursday for $40,425,000 New York state housing bonds and 15 million of Allegheny county, Pa., sanitary authority bonds. On Wednesday, Missouri will auction 20 million of institution building bonds.

The corporate calendar will be rather light. On Friday, Lehman Brothers is scheduled to offer units of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. Debentures and common stock valued at 90 million dollars. Potomac Electric Power Co. will open bids Wednesday on 30 million dollars of debentures. Also on Friday, Hallgarten & Co. is to underwrite an Anaconda Co. stockholder offering of 1,734,865 shares of capital stock.

Livestock Report

Chicago, Feb. 9 (AP)—Butcher hogs dropped 50 to 75 cents this week while hogs lost 25 to 50 cents.

Demand from shippers was the poorest in months and wholesale pork prices lost as much as $3.00. Butchers weighing less than 230 pounds recorded the most declines.

Salable hog receipts at Chicago and at the 12 major terminals were the smallest for any five day week since September.

A falling off in receipts was a big help to the cattle market. Steers gained 50 cents to $1.00 while heifers were ahead $1.00 to $2.00, closing at the best prices of the week.

Salable receipts were down 17 per cent from a week ago. They also did not follow the usual pattern. Arrivals on Monday and Wednesday were the smallest for those days since late last year. But receipts Tuesday and Thursday were unusually large for those days of the week.

Lambs closed the week steady to 25 cents higher while sheep finished steady. Demand from eastern order buyers was not as aggressive as in the preceding week.

Grains Close Lower

Chicago, Feb. 9 (AP)—The liquidating movement continued in grains on the board of trade this week.

With the exception of September and December wheat, representing the 1957 crop, all grains futures closed lower for the third straight week.

Many new seasonal lows were made throughout the list. But the losses for the full week were not as large as in the previous week. A better tone developed toward the finish.

Wheat closed 2 1/4 lower to 1 1/4 higher, corn 3/4-2 1/2 lower, oats 1 1/2-2 1/2 lower, Rye 3 to 4 1/4 lower, soybeans 4 1/2-6 1/2 lower and lard 47 to 87 cents a hundred pounds lower.

Argentine Competition

Behind the liquidation was competition for wheat in the world market from Argentine wheat, continued government sales of corn to exporters, disappointment over failure of more soybean oil export business to develop and belief government support levels for oats and rye may be lowered this year.

New crop wheat futures recovered from an early sell-off as drizzles in parts of the winter wheat belt did not create enough moisture to improve the dry situation. Also, these futures were selling below the government loan, Chicago basis.

Corn was a key grain in the slump during the early part of the week. All corn futures sank to new seasonal lows each day through Wednesday.

Cash corn wasn't any firmer than the futures.

Cotton Strong

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—Cotton futures prices held to a relatively narrow range this week and closed with small net changes.

The over-all tone of the market was strong, and in marked contrast to the weakness that prevailed in securities dealings. Active futures contracts on the New York Cotton Exchange finished at prices ranging from $2.15 a bale higher to 20 cents a bale lower than at the close of the week before.

While the nearer months showed the most strength, all deliveries except December 1956 scored new life-of-contract highs when at their best levels of the week.

Calls Marines Good Outfit

Parris Island, S. C., Feb. 9 (AP)—The father of a marine recruit who claims a drill instructor mistreated him at this training center was guest at a marine parade yesterday and then remarked: "Although I realize I'm getting a 'soft-soap' job here at Parris Island by officials, I still feel the marine corps is a good outfit and that tough training is required." The trip here was the second for Nelson F. Porter of Hartford, Vt., since his son, David Lee Porter, 18, wrote last Dec. 9 that he was struck in the head with an iron bar and "forced to march with sand in his mouth."

35th Anniversary
Of Junior League
Will Be Observed

The Junior League of Kingston will observe its 35th anniversary with a ball May 25 at the Governor Clinton Hotel, according to Mrs. James J. Quinn, chairman of the event.

Assisting in the plans are Mrs. John Van Gonsic and Mrs. Peter D. Corsones, co-chairmen, Mrs. Frank B. Matthews, invitations; Mrs. Richard E. Kuehne, treasurer; Mrs. George Bushnell, decorations; Mrs. Warren H. Kraust, decorations and Mrs. Arthur Hazenbush, tickets.

The Junior League of Kingston was founded in 1922, with 10 members, and was incorporated in 1934.

Among the early projects of this League was sewing for the Children's Home and the hospitals, baby welfare work, assisting with the baby clinic which was one of the first established in the State of New York, prenatal clinic, the distribution of books and magazines in the hospitals, and children's plays.

The need and value of its health and welfare service having been demonstrated, most of these activities are now under the protection of either the state or county and the League has branched out where and whenever the need has made itself felt.

In 1947 the League provided volunteer instructions at the City Recreation Center, in dancing, cooking, textiles, painting and with the assistance of one paid worker and later two paid workers. By 1952 this program had proved itself to be a worthy cause and the City of Kingston took over the responsibility.

In 1951 the Kingston League ventured into a new project, the Junior League Exchange which is now located at 45 Crown street.

In 1953 a cheer chain was formed for the purpose of visiting the various local institutions, presenting entertainment and refreshments.

Also in 1953, the Senate House Committee was formed and League members were trained as guides at the Senate House and Museum, to conduct tours for the school children as well as for the public.

The Kingston Junior League still carries on the Hospital Book-Service, as well as book service to the Ulster County infirmary and several nursing homes and children's theatre. Since the opening of the Tumor Clinic in 1949, League volunteers have been in attendance. The Loan Closet in the Tumor Clinic building, includes a supply of hospital beds, crutches and wheel chairs, which are available to the public, free of charge.

The validity and principal of the Junior League has been proven by the number of Junior League members carrying large responsibilities in their communities today.

MONEY GIFTS RECEIVED AT ENGAGEMENT PARTY

A bride-to-be tells me: "I have recently become engaged and my parents gave a large engagement party for my fiancé and me. I received many presents—quite a few of them were money gifts. I would like to know just who keeps this money? Is it intended for my own personal use or does my fiancé share in it, or what?"

"The money you received is really intended to buy furnishings for your future house and it is generally put into a special account in both your names."

Photographs on the Living-Room
Wall

Dear Mrs. Post: I have two children—a girl five years of age and a boy nine years of age. I recently had very lovely oil photographs taken of each child. I would like to know if it would be correct to hang these pictures on the wall in my living room on either side of a sofa? When I mentioned hanging them there I was told that was not the proper place to hang pictures of this type. Will you please tell me what you think about this?

Answer: The living-room wall would be a perfect place to hang the children's pictures.

Asking Wife to Come in

Dear Mrs. Post: One of the men with whom my husband works stopped at our house the other evening to see my husband about a business matter. His wife had come with him but she waited outside in the car. I did not ask her to come in. Do you think I was rude not to have gone out and asked her to come in the house?

Answer: I am sorry but I cannot say that you were either hospitable or courteous—especially if he was in your house for some time. If he only stopped in for a few minutes it was not necessary to ask her to come in.

How should the ushers at a wedding be dressed? Mrs. Post's leaflet "E-3, 'Clothes' of the Bridal Party," includes descriptions of proper dress for both evening and daytime weddings.

She is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

William Quick, scoutmaster, and Francis Albright, assistant scoutmaster, plan to promote a class in leadership training. Wider Choice In Color Schemes For the Kitchen

Homemakers today have a wider choice than ever before in selecting decorative schemes for the kitchen, as both kitchen-unit and equipment manufacturers are turning out their wares in a wide range of colors.

If the kitchen cabinets are of wood, the choice of color is practically unlimited and steel cabinets are now coming in many shades. Those in two-tone wood shades are frequently used with white appliances, tied in with copper-tone cupboards by matching trim or with contrasting colored gas or electric ranges and refrigerators.

The rule of thumb seems to be: colored cabinets, woodwork, countertops and walls combine best with white appliances; colored appliances, sink, woodwork and walls combine best with white cupboards.

In other words, despite the craze for high color in the kitchen, it is recognized that there can be too much of a good thing when everything in the kitchen is colored.

Ceilings, which in former years were usually a neutral white, are now painted to blend with the woodwork and floor covering, thus tying in with the color scheme.

Increasingly, homemakers are returning to roll-up window shades in the kitchen, finding them less troublesome to keep clean than Venetian blinds.

Peninsula-Style Counter Helps Kitchen Work

A "peninsula" counter sticking out into a kitchen the way Cape Cod sticks out into the ocean, can often be the solution to a tough kitchen planning problem. The peninsula counter combines with counters and cabinets along two walls to form a U-shape, which home economists say is one of the most desirable arrangements.

One end of the counter contains a built-in range, the other serves as working area with a breakfast bar on the overhanging ledge.

Underneath the peninsula is a solid bank of pine cabinets, matching those on the floor and along the wall on the other two sides. Cabinets boast a natural finish, displaying the beauty of the wood grain.

Water May Harm Hardwood Floors

Hardwood floors normally should never be cleaned with water, says the Maple Flooring Manufacturers Assn. Dust clean them with a soft brush, dry mop or cloth.

If the floor is soiled or spot stained, rub it with a mop or cloth moistened slightly with penetrating sealer, turpentine or furniture polish. This treatment is especially effective on tight-grained hardwoods such as maple and birch.

Protect Siding

On new construction, where clapboard or other type of wood siding is used, the siding should be end-painted and butted tightly against the outside window or door casing. Where there is evidence of leaks around windows and doors of existing construction, the openings should be thoroughly caulked and sealed.

Putty and Paint

In preparing for an outside paint job, always make sure the putty around windows is secure. If not have it removed. Before new putty is applied, have the sash edge painted with a good prime coat. Otherwise the oil from the putty will be dried away.

Glass Cutting

When cutting glass to a particular design, first draw the pattern to be cut on paper. Then, place the paper template beneath the glass so that exact dimensions can be followed and cut on the glass. Make sure the glass is on a flat surface. Use a steel straight edge to guide glass cutter.

Varnish for Screens

Spar varnish is widely used over copper flashing and screening to prevent oxidation of the metal. As it permits the grain to show through, it is often used on outdoor woodwork and furniture where a "natural" finish is desired.

The 'Drum' ... Has Split-Level Appearance

Rooms Six
Bedrooms Three
Closets Seven
Cubage:
House 27,400 Ft.
Garage 3,900 Ft.
Dimensions 53' x 25' (35')

Because the garage is built under the house, the "Drum", today's Home of the Week, has the appearance of a split-level home; it is especially well suited to a sloping site.

Measuring 53' x 25' this house can be built on about an 85' lot. A combination finish ... of brick and clapboards as in the illustration ... seems ideal for this style house. Multi-colored roofing can be used to good advantage. And, of course, landscaping adds greatly to the exterior appearance of any house.

A cementwalk ... flagstones would be appropriate, too ... leads up to the front porchway and entrance. When you open the front door you walk into the entry hall, complete with a good sized coat closet for guests' hats, coats, etc. From this entry hall it's an easy matter to walk to any room in the house.

The bedrooms and bath are reached by a central hallway while the living room opens right off the entry hall. A short hallway leads from the entry hall to the kitchen; the dining room opens directly off the kitchen. Thus, there's not a lot of traffic through the center of rooms ... disturbing brings extra dirt into the rooms.

In this design the master bedroom is unusually attractive as well as large. In addition to two closets ... one of which is defin-

Pay More Heed To Back Door

Many home decorators today believe too little attention is given to the back door.

There was a time when the rear entrance was a mere architectural gesture to youngsters and tradespeople. But today, with growing emphasis on back yard living and with so many living rooms being placed in the rear of the house, the rear door has become a decorating focal point, second in importance only to the front door.

These are some tips for the back door:
1. Choose a style that is in keeping with the architecture of the whole house. Doors are available in styles appropriate for all types of architecture, from Tudor to modern. They are treated with a chemical preservative which for all purposes prevents stick and warping.
2. Paint the rear door the same accent color as the front door. As a focal point of interest, it should be colorful.
3. White is generally a poor door color if there are young children around. It's hard to maintain.

Painting of Porch

Often it is possible to improve the appearance of a house greatly by repainting the ceiling, railing, pillars and floor of the porch—even though the rest of the house is not done at the same time. Hollow pillars and the spindles on railings are often moisture-traps that can cause trouble if they do not have adequate paint protection.

itely over-sized ... the master bedroom features its own bath. This extra bath is convenient not only for the occupants of the master bedroom but for the rest of the family as well ... especially during the early morning rush.

Both the other bedrooms are located in the right wing of the house; each room has good light and ventilation. There are two closets in one of these bedrooms, too. And, although there is but one closet in the other bedroom it is very large and can certainly take care of the storage needs of the room's occupant.

Largest of the rooms, the living room is rectangular in shape. It features a picture window and a fireplace ... features that add greatly to the decorative interest of the room. No wall divides the living room from the dining room so that there is one large unbroken area that gives the impression of spaciousness.

Although it is small in size, the kitchen is arranged very compactly and thus contains plenty of counter and storage space. Two windows provide good light and ventilation for the room. Housewives will like the fact that these windows are located over the sink.

The back door opens on a short hall just to the right of the kitchen. Stairs to the base-

Binding Garage Doors Can Be Fixed Easily

If your garage doors are the swing-open type, and they have sagged until they now bind on the driveway, your child's playbox may provide the cure. Cut a small slot through the bottom of each door at its outside corner and insert an old roller skate wheel, or large ball-bearing and race assembly. It can be fastened by drilling a hole through the outer edge of the door to insert a bolt that will act as an axle for the wheel. The door will then roll along the pavement and open and close easily.

Seal Moisture Out Before You Paint

Moisture blistering is one of the major enemies of paint. Now that the paint-up season is beginning, the first step should be to eliminate avenues for moisture to get into walls.

Check all flashing and caulking around windows and doors before you paint. If you find any cracks in the caulking, remove it entirely and recalk with fresh compound before you start to paint.

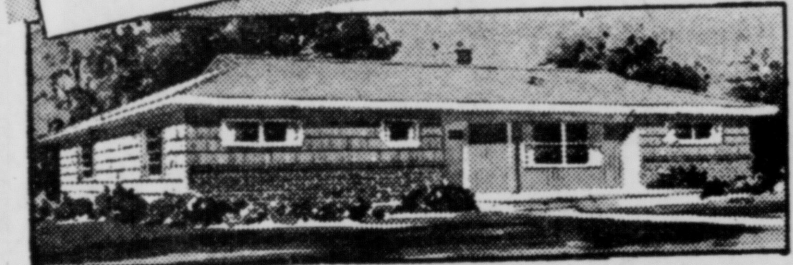

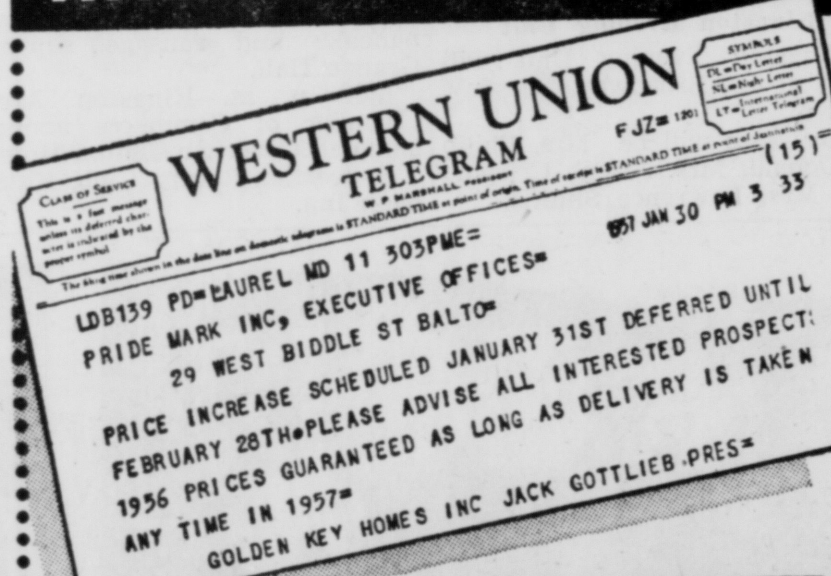

Painting Ceiling With Roller

In painting a ceiling you can go to town with a roller if you paint the edge first with a two-inch brush. Experts recommend rolling forward and back, overlapping the strip you have pointed with a brush. Roll a second and third strip in the same way, overlapping each strip slightly. Then to level the paint, roll across the strips. Continue over the ceiling in this manner, but be sure to do the entire ceiling at one session. This will prevent lap marks from showing.

Rosendale, Feb. 8.—A "rock 'n' roll" session will be held at the Rosendale firehall Saturday at 8:30 p. m. for all the children in the town of Rosendale.

The committee announced that any adults that wanted to attend are most welcome, but the dancing will be strictly rock 'n' roll. There will be no charge. Soda will be sold at the hall.

Music will be provided by records on the company owned juke box. Anyone planning to attend is urged to bring along records, but should have their name on the record. The company will gladly accept as a donation any records of old or new music which can be used for future affairs.

According to the committee young people from the various communities in the town of Rosendale are urged to attend this affair and to have a good time dancing to popular records. It presents an opportunity for them to meet socially and to give them a good time, a spokesman said. If this proves successful, other parties or rock 'n' roll sessions will be held in the near future at other places in the township.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Response is still coming in on the poem printed here called "The Donovan and Rightmyer Canal" written in 1903 and one of my friends in Port Ewen copied it on five and a half long sheets.

He did it all in fine printing so that I could spell all the names out as they appeared in the poem. I just want him to know how his work is appreciated and enjoyed by the readers who have contacted me. Just this morning I had a call from an old boatman who believes that the poem was written by Charles Conklin, who lived in Ponckhockie. He was not sure about the exact spelling of the last name but he remembered Conklin being a mate on the John H. Cordts, tugboat.

Looking through the Kingston City Directory of 1898 I find a Charles Conklin of 44 Lindsley avenue a captain of the steamer, Cordts and a Charles Conklin, Jr., a pilot of some steamer and living at some address.

I am now wondering if the poet was the son or father. The man who gave me the above clues said Conklin he knew had a wonderful sense of humor and was good company on the boats he worked on. It seems that Conklin, the poet boatman, wrote another good poem about a trip to Albany on the old Norwich, the Ice King.

while she was breaking up the ice. Perhaps one of the readers has this poem, no doubt it is another good one the readers will enjoy. I do hope I can see a copy of it.

A short time ago there was an item in this column about Bernice Schulze of Port Ewen, whose hobby and trade is making and repairing models of boats for museums. He contacted me because he thought I could find him some good pictures of the Mary Powell, which model he wants to make for his own pleasure in his spare time.

There was mention of it in this column, and he said in a short time he received a real blue-print of the Mary Powell exactly as he wants to make it. He also received a very nice letter from a lady that she has a nice photo of the Mary Powell which she hand painted as that had been her trade in former years.

He wanted me to come over and see some of the models while he was repairing them. One he said was an old armed Dutch sailing vessel, which was from the Roosevelt Memorial Museum at Hyde Park. I did not waste any time and took a trip over to see these interesting models while he had them.

I was so interested in the models, some he took apart for repairs, others in various stages of construction that I did not have a chance to copy the letters and pictures he received to the article appearing in this column about him. I was surprised to learn that both he and his wife are professional model makers and both work on these ships. They were both excited and very pleased at the response on the Mary Powell. Mr. Schulze said he met someone in Fowler and Keith's hardware store on the Hudson river and Rondout creek sloops and sailing vessels and he would very much like to get in touch with him and make some models from those interesting ships of this section. Whatever precise and scaled models Mr. and Mrs. Schulze will make of this vicinity's boating days will help preserve the memory of Hudson river travel.

Furniture Firm To Break Ground For New Plant

Ground-breaking for a new furniture store on Route 28, two miles west of Kingston, will begin Monday, it was announced today by Edward and Marie Wiederspiel, owners of Wiedy's Furniture Co., now located at Boiceville.

Mr. Wiedy said liquidation of the Boiceville store and factory, which was damaged by fire Dec. 10, 1956, is planned. The Wiedy's own three buildings and a warehouse at Boiceville.

Mr. Wiedy said the new building, which will be located opposite Kay and Paul's Motel, will contain 12,000 square feet of space with a 100-foot frontage on Route 28.

He said it is planned to open the new store in April. The same policy now in effect at the Boiceville location will prevail at the new Route 28 store, Mr. Wiedy said.

Recognition Held For Area Scouts

The western district of Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, held their Court of Recognition for all Scouts who had advanced during 1956 at the Ontario Central School auditorium on Wednesday evening.

All packs, troops and posts massed colors on the stage after which Johan A. Aalto, council president, gave the welcoming address.

District Chairman Harry Allen presented each group that had advanced to the parents and friends. Field Scout Executive Eugene Johnson presented the 50-mile award to Troop 63 for their successful completion of the requirement on their Adirondack canoe trip last August.

The Order of the Arrow dance team, composed of 11 members, presented a group of authentic Indian dances including the coup and hoop dances under the leadership of Ralph Shapiro, lodge advisor.

Two Million Deaths

During World War 2, 2,000,000 persons died of cardiovascular diseases in the United States. This is approximately eight times as many deaths as the American forces sustained during the four years of that war, the Heart Chapter of the Ulster County TB & Health Association points out.

How to Prepare Returns

Your Income Tax Primer

(Third of 12 Chapters)
By RICHARD A. MULLEN
Written for NEA Service

One question every taxpayer must answer is how many exemptions he can claim. Since each exemption reduces taxable income by $600 and saves at least $120 in tax, it pays to claim all exemptions to which you are entitled.

The official instructions on this important question are necessarily condensed to save space. Most taxpayers like to have additional explanations of the complicated rules and this article is designed to give you just that.

Let's take up first the exemptions for you and your wife. The official instruction make it clear that extra exemptions are allowed when you or your wife reach 65 or are blind. It will help you to figure the exemptions for you and your wife if you remember two things:

First—an individual was 65 or over in 1956 if his 65th birthday was on or before Jan. 1, 1957.

Second—unlike your dependents, you cannot claim your wife as an exemption if she files a separate return to get back the tax withheld on her earnings of less than $600.

If your wife has income of less than $600, you should file a joint return. Her income has to be included with yours, but you get a $600 exemption for her more if she is 65 or blind so it's cheaper than filing separate returns.

Furthermore, even though your wife had no income during 1956, you cannot claim an exemption for her if you file a separate return and she is claimed as a dependent by another taxpayer who furnishes more than one-half of her support.

Another advantage of filing a joint return is that dependents of either the husband or wife can be claimed on the return.

This brings us to the exemptions you can claim for your children and other dependents.

You will find these tests in Item 15 of the instructions for Form 1040A and on page 5 of the instructions for Form 1040. To help you with this important step, NEA's Income Tax Primer lists the tests and then gives some explanatory material.

Remember, unless otherwise indicated in the test, each of your dependents must meet all the following:

1. Received less than $600 gross income.

Explanation: This test does not apply to your child, step-child or adopted child who did not reach his 19th birthday on or before Jan. 1, 1957; or even though the child was 19 or over in 1956, the test does not apply if he was a student in each of five calendar months during 1956.

This means that you no longer lose an exemption for your child just because he earns over $600. He must, of course, file a return, but he is entitled to an exemption for himself and this does not prevent your claiming him as a dependent provided he meets the other tests. Remember that gifts on non-taxable income received by the child, such as dividends on GI insurance, disability payments, and insurance proceeds, are not included in his gross income.

2. Received more than one-half of his or her support from you (or your spouse if you file a joint return).

Explanation: Support includes such items as the cost of education, food, clothing, medical care and lodging expense. If your child, step-child, or adopted child is a student, any amount he or she receives as a scholarship need not be considered in determining whether you have furnished over half the cost of supporting the child.

Prior to 1954 this test made it impossible for any member of a group, say three brothers, who shared in the support of a parent, to claim an exemption if no one of them contributed more than half the support.

Under the new law, a parent can be claimed by one of the brothers provided he contributes over 10 per cent and the other brothers state in writing that they will not also claim an exemption for the parent in 1956. These statements should be attached to the return of the person claiming the exemption. Internal Revenue has Form 2120, Multiple Support Agreement, which you can fill in to supply the necessary information if you desire.

3. Did not file a joint return with her husband or his wife.

Explanation: Suppose your daughter was married on Dec. 31, 1956. Even though you were her sole support during 1956, you cannot claim her as a dependent if she files a joint return with her husband.

4. Was either a citizen, or resident of the U. S. or a resident of Canada, Mexico, the Republic of Panama, or the Canal Zone.

Explanation: This means you cannot get an exemption for parents or other dependents living in Europe or other places not listed in 4 if they are not citizens of the U. S. If your dependent is a citizen of the U. S., it does not matter where he lives.

5. Was related to you in one of the ways specified in the instructions or who lived with you in your house, even though not related to you.

Explanation: This means you

Free on Bond

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—Herman Livertig, former New Orleans television executive, was free on bond today pending sentencing for contempt of Congress. A Federal Court jury which deliberated only 30 minutes convicted Livertig yesterday afternoon on charges of contempt for unlawfully refusing to answer questions before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.

1 IF THIS WAS YOUR SON, WOULD YOU BE PREVENTED FROM CLAIMING HIM AS YOUR EXEMPTION? YES . . . NO . . .

2 IF YOU HAVE A CHILD BORN DEC. 31, 1956, CAN YOU CLAIM A FULL $600 EXEMPTION FOR THAT CHILD? YES . . . NO . . .

3 1957 JAN 1

4 CAN THIS TAXPAYER CLAIM AN EXTRA EXEMPTION FOR 1956? YES . . . NO . . .

5 CAN YOU CLAIM AN EXEMPTION FOR A FAITHFUL FAMILY CAT? YES . . . NO . . .

ANSWERS: (1) NO—(2) YES—(3) YES—(4) YES—(5) YES. If he was under 19 or a student, (2) YES. If your wife has income of less than $600, (3) YES. If you have a child born Dec. 31, 1956, (4) YES. If you have a faithful family cat, (5) YES.

High School Downs Ellenville, 64-57, for Fifth DUSO Win

Balanced Attack Features Revenge Victory for KHS

Nerveless Bob Smith sank three straight free throws in the final four seconds to lock up a 64-57 victory for Kingston High over the Blue Devils of Ellenville Central last night at Ellenville.

The victory came as a mild upset and avenged an 11-point defeat administered by Ellenville earlier in the campaign. It also brought the Maroons a game closer to the DUSO League 500 mark. They are now 5-6 and in seventh place, but just one full game behind the fourth place Blue Devils who are 6-5.

The score stood 59-57 as "Smitty" went to the line after being fouled on an out-of-bounds play by the Ellies' ace Mike Tannenbaum. Tannenbaum protested the call too vigorously and a technical was tacked on. Smith made the original free throw, the penalty shot and then the technical. KHS then took the ball at center court and worked their "four horseman" in-bound play, shaking Bob Strong loose for a layup at the buzzer to clinch the hard fought win.

Balanced Attack

Kingston unfurled its best balanced scoring attack of the campaign. Coach Jack Gilligan employed just one substitute, Tony Grimaldi, in the game which he described as the "best team effort and best played" by his club this season.

Smith was the scoring leader with 20 points. Grimaldi, who missed the last game, was next with 12. Bob Strong and Joe Klonowski, the latter making his first start of the year, chipped in each with 9. George Uhl contributed 8 and Larry Johnson 6.

Tannenbaum was the night's scoring leader with 22 which is a little below his DUSO average of 24.1. Smith guarded the bespectacled forward and, conversely, it was nearly a standoff, but "Smitty" had the best of it in all-around play.

Exciting Game

The contest was exciting right to the end. Kingston never led by more than seven points and Ellenville by four. The Blue Devils closed the gap to 59-57 in the last 50 seconds on Bob Gorman's beautiful twisting layup from underneath. The rest is history.

Ellenville led 14-12 in the first period, but a 21-point spree in the next chapter gave KHS a 33-29 margin. The Blue Devils fought back to regain the lead, 44-44 at the three-quarter mark.

42 Per Cent Shooting

Kingston fired a scintillating 42 per cent from the floor. It connected on 27 of 64 shots. Its shooting went like this in each period: 6 for 17, 10 for 18, 5 for 17 and 6 for 12.

Klonowski and Smith led the rebounders with 10 each as the team fielded a nifty total of 44. Strong, who seems to be coming along nicely, captured 9. Grimaldi and Johnson each 6 and Uhl 3.

Gilligan paid tribute to his team and complimented them for their fine play. He saluted the Blue Devils who he described as a "real good ball team."

Kingston faces Port Jervis Monday at Port Jervis. The Red Raiders of course, feature the league's leading scorer in Alex Osowick and talented guard Eddie Mack.

Barbara Romack Plays Mrs. Dye for Crown

Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 9 (AP)—Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif., playing in her first tournament of the winter, faces Mrs. Alice Dye of Indianapolis today in 18-hole finals of the women's golf championship of Palm Beach.

Miss Romack led 4-up after the first 10 holes but lost her touch and had to go 19 holes to out Polly Riley, veteran from Fort Worth, Tex., yesterday and gain the finals.

Mrs. Dye, five times champion of Indiana, had to come from behind to win over Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore, 2-up.

Tigers Sell Brideweser

Detroit, Feb. 9 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers announced today the sale of utility infielder Jim Brideweser to the Baltimore Orioles. Detroit said Brideweser was sold in "an over-the-waiver price" deal. The right handed infielder batted 216 for the Tigers last year. The sale of Brideweser reduced the Tiger roster to 41 players.

'HOT ROD' ON THE COURT—West Virginia's 'Hot Rod' Hundley keeps the ball moving as he advances down court, fakes shot and passes off to teammate Don Vincent (15) in game against New York University at Madison Square Garden Feb. 7. NYU's Tom DeLuca (27) and Jimmy Nidds (3) fail to stop 'Hot Rod' on this play. Hundley, one of the most publicized players in the country, was limited to eight points for the evening, but West Virginia won, 83-77. (AP Wirephoto)

Onteora Raps Walkill, 64-34

Even with ace center Art Gribbins sitting on the sidelines, Onteora Central experienced little trouble drubbing Walkill Central, 64-34, in the UCAL last night at Walkill.

Gribbins, who was set down for five weeks for scholastic reasons after the Indians' last game, wasn't missed as Coach Ed Witko's club breezed to win No. 6 in league play against two losses. Onteora ranks behind Rondout Valley and Saugerties and still maintains a chance in the title race.

Bob Germond got the starting nod in place of Gribbins and came through with 8 points. But it was left up to veterans John Frankie and Ten Jensen to lead the way. Frankie threw in 20 and Jensen added 11.

Onteora, who had a rough time beating the Blue Devils at home 57-54 in their first encounter, compiled more points in the first half than its punches foes did in the entire game. The Indians rolled up a 35-14 intermission margin and then coasted in the rest of the way.

None in Double Figures

Walkill was without one player in double figures. Pete Perez and Roy Schoppmann topped the scoring for Ernie Thompson's troupe with 9 each. High-scoring John O'Connor was limited to just 4.

The Walkill jayvees avenged an earlier defeat by Onteora, 51-48, as Al Auchmoo tossed in 14 and Gene Bulbado 10. Herb Krein of Onteora was high for both sides with 16. Tom McCrosson made 13 and Walt Krein 12.

Onteora faces Highland tonight (Saturday) at Boiceville, while Walkill's next game is Monday at Highland.

Saugerties Game Club Asks Return Of Deer Ballots

All ballots of the Saugerties Fish and Game Club's unofficial direct mail poll of Ulster County Federation members on the antlerless deer question should be returned completed as quickly as possible, according to W. Burt Pettenger, president of the Saugerties sportsmen.

Mr. Pettenger emphasized that ballots should not be held for return at the Federation meeting scheduled at the Saugerties rooms in the Municipal Building Thursday at 8 p. m. Ballots should be completed and mailed immediately to the Saugerties Club.

Opposes Doe Season

The Saugerties club which has steadfastly opposed an antlerless deer season for Ulster and surrounding counties, took the initiative over a week ago when it authorized its secretary to forward to all Federation members a detailed letter showing the affects of an antlerless season on the future deer kill.

Figures quoted in the letter were taken from the official count published by "The Conservationist," official magazine of the New York State Conservation Department.

According to Mr. Pettenger, the official deer kill figures show that the antlerless deer season in Greene county in 1952 caused a limited deer kill in later years in that county compared with substantial increases in nearby counties where only bucks were killed.

The club is seeking a vote on the matter to determine the true feeling of the majority of Ulster county sportsmen.

Tigers Sell Brideweser

Detroit, Feb. 9 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers announced today the sale of utility infielder Jim Brideweser to the Baltimore Orioles. Detroit said Brideweser was sold in "an over-the-waiver price" deal. The right handed infielder batted 216 for the Tigers last year. The sale of Brideweser reduced the Tiger roster to 41 players.

Barbara Romack Plays Mrs. Dye for Crown

Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 9 (AP)—Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif., playing in her first tournament of the winter, faces Mrs. Alice Dye of Indianapolis today in 18-hole finals of the women's golf championship of Palm Beach.

Miss Romack led 4-up after the first 10 holes but lost her touch and had to go 19 holes to out Polly Riley, veteran from Fort Worth, Tex., yesterday and gain the finals.

Mrs. Dye, five times champion of Indiana, had to come from behind to win over Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore, 2-up.

Saugerties Routs New Paltz, 67-37

7th Win in Row

Austin Kerin, 6-7 Saugerties High center, piched in 27 points, his highest total of the season, as Saugerties High marched through New Paltz Central, 67-37, last night at New Paltz.

It was win No. 7 for the Sawyers in the UCAL and their last game before meeting unbeaten Rondout Valley Central Monday at the SHS gym. First place will be riding on the outcome of the crucial tilt which ranks as the biggest affair of the season in the league.

Getting Better

Kerin, who gets progressively better in each outing, scored seven field goals and made 13 of 22 free throws. Bill Zeilman was the only other Sawyer player in double columns, tabbing 12.

Coach Bud Smith used reserves for the majority of the game, but still the hapless Huguenots couldn't make a contest of it. They fell behind in the first quarter, 19-5, and never were in contention the rest of the way as they dropped their seventh UCAL.

Dyer Scores 13

Walt Dyer was high for the losers with 13.

The jayvee game was just as lopsided as Saugerties won its 11th contest in 12 starts, 80-52. Barry Wolven led Bill Straub's crew with 20 and Terry Craft followed with 17, 11 of the total coming on free throws. He only missed three chances. Bob Whitaker chipped in with 10. Carl Moerhke topped New Paltz with 19.

DeMarco 10-6 Pick To Beat Ortega

Boston, Feb. 9 (AP)—Former welterweight champion Tony DeMarco, only 25 but at the crossroads of his fistic career, rules a 10-6 favorite over two-time conqueror Gaspar (Indian) Ortega in their third 10-round meeting tonight at the Boston Garden.

The Boston slugger has been installed the favorite despite two straight losses at the hands of the durable Indian from Tijuana, Mexico, in nationally-televated bouts last November and December in New York.

The oddsmakers figure that DeMarco just missed in the official voting in the New York bouts and this time has the advantage of fighting in a familiar ring with hometown fans cheering his every effort.

Ortega, an underdog at 4-1 and 2-1 in his first two bouts with DeMarco, upset the odds and knocked Tony from the No. 1 welterweight contender's spot with a pair of split decisions.

The lanky, 21-year-old battler has risen to the No. 2 contender's rating, a notch ahead of DeMarco, with the help of five split decisions in recent months.

DeMarco realizes another loss to Ortega would virtually ruin all hopes for another crack at the title he lost to Carmen Basilio in 1955.

The bout will not be telecast or broadcast.

Young Golfers Pace Tucson Open

Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 9 (AP)—Youngsters lead a closely packed field into the third round of the $15,000 Tucson Open today, but some of golf's brightest names are close behind.

Luck rode the broad shoulders of 25-year-old Billy Casper Jr. of Bonita, Calif., as he chipped in twice from traps yesterday to lead by a stroke after 36 holes with a nine-under par 131.

Bob Harris of Winnetka, Ill., put together the best 36 holes of his eight years as a pro for 132 and sole possession of second place.

Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N. C., ex-U. S. open champ, and John Leary, rookie from Hartford, Conn., are tied with 133.

New York Giant Night Set Thursday at Airport Inn

New York Giant baseball fans in the area have been invited to attend a Giant Night rally, Thursday, Feb. 14, at the Airport Inn at 7 p. m.

The program will include showing of the official 1956 World Series film and a short talk on Giant problems and prospects for 1957.

Charlie Getz of the Giant promotional staff, will represent the National League team. He says he will have a few items of in-

Streaking KHS Jayvees Rout Ellenville, 83-45

Bob Short, with 26 points, paced the streaking Kingston High jayvees to an easy 83-45 victory over Ellenville last night.

It was the seventh straight win for the powerful Maroon juniors and 11th of the season against just two losses.

Short and an able supporting cast of John Kelly, Hobie Armstrong and Jerry McDonough humbled the Blue Devils for the second time this year. Kelly, a lean freshman forward, pitched in 12, Armstrong of football fame, 10 and stocky McDonough 8.

Bob Wood paced the losers with 15 and Sam Painter added 10.

Kingston zoomed to a 22-12 lead in the first period and then breezed in. The halftime difference was 23 points (45-22) and at the end of three quarters it stood 63-25.

Coach Bill Hurley's team has beaten every DUSO League five but undefeated Newburgh Free Academy. Their other loss was at the hands of Arlington in the season's opener. They later avenged that loss.

Albany State Rips Hawks

Albany State Teachers College romped to its 11th win in 13 games by whipping New Paltz Teachers, 78-38, last night at Albany.

It was the second time this season that the Peds had defeated the Hawks. The first game was won in overtime.

Albany led all the way in the one-sided game. Its halftime margin was 51-28.

The Hawks, who are 4-5 on the season, were paced by Milo Dalbey with 15 points.

Gary Holway and Beardon each nailed 14 for the winners.

A couple of farmers out in Iowa were discussing the drouth. One fellow had some wheat which he managed to harvest.

First Farmer—The drouth sure has made the wheat short this year.

Second Farmer—Short? Say, I had to lather mine to mow it!

Steward—Don't be so down-hearted, lady. I have never heard of anyone dying of sea-sickness.

Victim—Oh, don't tell me that! It's only the hope of dying that has kept me alive so far.

Monotony mocks at life; thought belittles it.

City Chap—Which weeds are the easiest weeds to kill?

Farmer—Widow's weeds. You have only to say "wilt thou" and they wilt.

The most dangerous time of your life has come when you begin to Take Yourself Seriously!

Her mother usually jumped to her defense at the slightest provocation but this time she hesitated.

Mother—But, Dora, how can you say he doesn't love you? Why, with my very own eyes I saw him cry over your hand when you cut your finger.

"Gents, I have in hand a check—a bribe you might call it—from the plaintiff for $10,000 and another from the defendant for $15,000. I propose to return $5,000 to the defendant, and decide the case strictly on its merits."

Man—That school principal is certainly a confirmed optimist.

Neighbor—I never noticed it.

A pretty but quite heartless young creature was very proud of the way she almost made men grovel in the dust before her.

Miss—Roddy has threatened to throw himself over a cliff if I don't marry him.

Scheu Acquitted Of Serving Drink To Three Minors

A tavern proprietor charged with selling alcoholic beverages to three minors was acquitted this week in County Court.

Otto Scheu of the Mt. Marion Inn was accused in an indictment of serving the youths on August 6, 1954.

There were three counts against Scheu, based on Sections 65 of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Law, which forbids sale to those under 18 years of age.

Scheu said he served the three after two showed him driver's cards and the other a driver's license.

Attorney Ernest E. Schirm of Saugerties through the jury verdict last Tuesday won his argument that Scheu served the three in good faith when they presented the identification cards.

It was the contention of the prosecution that even though the draft cards and license were not those of the youths who showed them, Scheu was relieved of his responsibility for complying with ABC law.

Sleet, Freezing Rain Predicted For Eastern N. Y.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 9 (AP)—The weather bureau says sleet and freezing rain are expected to hit some eastern sections of the state today. It advised motorists to take it easy.

Forecasters said a rain area spreading northeastward across the state would reach the Mohawk and Hoosick valleys during the day. The bureau added: "Cold air trapped in many valley areas will not rise above the freezing level before the arrival of this rain area. As a result warnings of freezing rain and sleet are issued for the cold valley sections of eastern New York, especially north of the Mohawk and Hoosick valleys."

The weather bureau said a warming trend would change the sleet and freezing rain to rain a few hours after the precipitation begins.

Rain fell across sections of western New York. But forecasters said temperatures were high enough to keep away the danger of sleet.

Scout's Annual Finance Campaign Begins This Week

The annual Boy Scout finance campaign of Rip Van Winkle Council began this week in conjunction with the national observance of Boy Scout Week and the anniversary of the youth movement 47 years ago yesterday.

Over 3,000 boys in the 117 communities serviced by the council are currently engaged in special activities for the observance during February 6 to 12.

Activities in Ulster and Greene counties embracing the council will include the observance of Boy Scout Sunday in most of the churches in both counties, special rallies and Scouting events, Scouting window displays and the kick-off of the annual finance campaign.

Saugerties Feature

In Saugerties, Scouts have been elected to take over the offices of municipal officials and will serve in that capacity at the regular Saugerties village board meeting Monday, Feb. 18.

The Boy Scout program has affected the lives of over 26,000,000 American boys and men since its founding Feb. 8, 1910, and now has an active enrollment of 4,500,000. Scouting seeks to train boys in patriotism and character so they can become better citizens in their community.

The annual Boy Scout finance campaign will be held in conjunction with Boy Scout week. During this period active community spirited representatives will make a door to door appeal for support of the Scouting program. They will sell Scouting and emphasize will be on the fact that "a contribution to Scouting is not a donation but an investment in the development of the youth of America."

This Week They Said:

(By The Associated Press)

"... I looked out the other side and I saw flames on the left and then we went bumpety-bump..." Edwin J. Dresner, survivor of crash on Rikers Island of Miami-bound plane in which 20 died.

"... these evil creatures pervert the purpose of the labor movement and cheat honest workers..." They also add incalculably to the price which you and I pay for goods and services."—Senator Ives of New York on labor racketeers.

"... on the basis of the available clinical evidence, the committee can conclude that there is a possibility that the use of the drugs without medical supervision may be attended with danger."—Public Health Committee, New York Academy of Medicine, in report on tranquilizers.

"Hello, boss? They were back again."—Queens restaurant employee, Arcadio Merced, reporting to employer on the second successive holdup in two days by same men.

"I doubt if an issue like this can ever be kept out of politics."—State Rent Administrator Robert C. Weaver, discussing official functions, during New York city television program.

"I am tired of hearing politics used as a dirty word."—Judge Charles S. Desmond of Court of Appeals in Buffalo talk.

Woodstock, Feb. 8—William Hand, chairman of the March of Dimes drive for funds in the township, has announced an additional list of contributors as

Veterans' Rights, Benefits Listed

Howard C. Shurter, county director Veterans' Service Agency, and William Hartman, state veteran counselor NYS Division of Veteran Affairs, submit another in a series of articles on rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen and their dependents:

Civil Service—Applications for the following positions in the New York State Civil Service will be accepted up to January 15, 1957: training technicians, engineering technicians, junior engineers and junior architects, draftsmen (electrical and mechanical), engineering and drafting aides, assistant accountant, rehabilitation interviewer, unemployment insurance claims clerk, bank examiner trainee, librarians, nurses, case workers, safety officers, building guards, and elevator operators. Competitive examinations for these positions will be held on March 16.

February 25, 1957 is the final filing date for Examination No. 4200, Beginning Office Worker, covering the fields of accounting and statistics clerk, clerk and file clerk. The written test is scheduled for March 30, 1957. An exam for hearing stenographer is scheduled for April 6. Applications will be accepted for this examination until March 1.

Loans—A bill introduced in the House of Representatives during this Congressional Session proposes to broaden the operation of the VA's direct loan program. Under the terms of this new legislation, the VA would be provided with $200 million for loans in rural areas until July 25, 1958. The bill also seeks authority to use another billion dollars from the VA's insurance funds to back GI loans.

Legislation—The chairman of the House of Representatives Veterans' Affairs Committee has introduced legislation to make pension eligibility requirements for widows of World War 2 and Korean veterans the same as are now in existence for widows of World War 1 veterans. In general, this means that widows of the nation's last two wars would be eligible for pension if their husbands were discharged under other than dishonorable conditions after 90 days of service during World War 2 or the Korean campaign. Such pensions, however, would be subject to annual income limitations of $2,700 for widows with dependents and $1,400 for widows without dependents.

Education—Veterans planning to study abroad under the Korean GI Bill must meet certain requirements. The institution in which they plan to train must be accredited. Also, they can only pursue VA approved courses. Moreover, they must be accepted by the school of their choice. This fact must be known before they leave the United States. Veterans planning to attend foreign schools should contact such schools well in advance as nearly all of them have some specific entrance requirements. In addition, veterans should have sufficient knowledge of the language of the country in which they will study and enough money to last them at least two months before their first GI training allowance check will be paid. Applications for foreign schools must be submitted and receive prior approval from the Veterans Administration.

Questions about the rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen or their dependents may be submitted for individual attention to the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, 32 Main street, Kingston.
